Four Million in United States Suffer From Heart Ailments

PHILADELPHIA—Of the 140 million in the United States, 4 million are suffering from some form of impaired heart action, according to Dr. Joseph VanderVeer, chief of the cardiovascular department of Pennsylvania hospital and assistant professor of clinical medicine at University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine.

Dr. VanderVeer said that in 1942 there were 400,000 deaths attributed to cardiovascular disease.

"Actually that was 28½ per cent of all the deaths that year," said Dr. VanderVeer. "But it must be considered that the population is greater too. In 1900 there were some 8,500,000 persons in this country between 50 and 75 years of age. In 1942 the number in this age group had risen to 24 million, and in 1980 it is estimated there will be 42 million people past 50.

"While figures reveal that heart disease is one of the greatest threats today, new techniques in diagnosis offer greater assurance for longer life by those suffering from cardiac ailments. Many deaths attributed to 'acute indigestion' several decades ago, undoubtedly were caused by heart disease."

Few Want Job of Guarding German Prisoners in Jail

BERLIN. — Jobs guarding Rudolf Hess and six other major Nazi war criminals confined in Berlin's Spandau prison are going begging, the American military government disclosed as it began advertising for the needed guards.

The Berlin daily bulletin, circulated to American occupation personnel, carried a notice offering "openings for positions as prison guards at Spandau." The gross pay is $3,619 a year. Required qualifications are at least three years' active service in the U. S. army, navy, coast guard or marine corps or three years service in a police or fire-fighting organization.

Spandau, situated in the British sector of Berlin, is administered by the four occupying powers.

...would you do if you learned ...e worker next to you at the ...or in the plant was taking ...extra pay every payday and ...n't do the same? Your Uncle Sam ...ks only one guess. Well, the Payroll Savings Plan for Savings Bonds actually provides extra pay ...cause it accumulates Savings Bonds for you which pay off at the rate of $4 for every $3 in 10 years. All you have to do is to authorize your employer to hold back a stipulated amount which he will hand back to you in a better form of money—money which earns interest —U. S. Savings Bonds. Savings Bonds are extra pay. For example, if you take part of your pay in Savings Bonds at the rate of $3.75 per week, the Bonds become $7,163.45 in 10 years.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Who Are We, Anyway?

Subject came up at Bill Webster's, the other night, as we were chatting over beer and pretzels. Just who are the folks who make up our town? Where'd they come from?

Well, Doc Hollister's Scotch-English ancestry; Will Lindley's folks were miners about from Pennsylvania; Rhio Powell's family were brewers back in Ho...

Guess our bloodstream's got a bit of every country of the glob and every section of America. We've still got differences in taste and background—whether they're in music, history, or beer. Only these differences don't matter—because we're self-respecting people, in a free, united land.

And from where I sit, that's what makes our towns and cities —our America—so strong, progressive, tolerant. Our championship of individual liberties has brought us people from all faiths, all lands—to prove that respect for one another's rights is the greatest ...l Community ever know!

Nazi Files Reveal Research Secrets

Data in Captured German Documents Indexed for Air Industry.

DAYTON, OHIO. — Any student who ever tried to wade through just a single page of German translation will appreciate this one:

What were once 1,500 tons of German documents — a complete history of the Nazi air research program from 1933 to 1945 — have been evaluated, cataloged, classified, indexed and published in microfilm by air intelligence experts at nearby Wright field.

As a result, American aircraft industries have at their call products of the most intensified aeronautical development program the world ever has known.

Engineers estimate the actual research contained in the captured documents would cost between two and three billion dollars if reproduced today in this country.

Scan Nazi Documents.

The air documents division of the air force's air materiel command's intelligence department discarded 1,450 tons of lesser papers at the beginning of Project Index. But it handled 55,000 Nazi documents, all written in technical German and using at least 110,000 new German aeronautical terms familiar only to German scientists.

Included were tons of top secret details on the world's first production jet-engine fighter, the Messerschmitt-262; design, production and test information needed to duplicate the deadly V-1 and V-2 missiles, plus hundreds of other ideas ranging from swept-back wings for supersonic flight to formulas for making heat-resistant dyes and synthetic rubber for airplane tires.

The moving spirit behind the job has been a young air force officer, Col. H. M. McCoy, West Point graduate and holder of two graduate degrees from the California institute of technology.

It was Colonel McCoy who evolved what seemed a fantastic idea in 1945 when the project actually got down to the work of abstracting and filing.

Colonel McCoy wanted to catalog German documents so they would form a nucleus of a huge file embracing the entire science of aeronautics, a ready-reference catalog which would save millions of dollars and hundreds of thousands of man-hours by avoiding duplications, costly literature searches and wasted efforts.

Could Save Duplication.

With an air catalog such as Colonel McCoy envisioned, the firm could have turned to a central government agency before experimentation began and learned the idea was impractical before they wasted time and money.

Colonel McCoy's index dream is in process of being realized. The Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences, under joint air force-navy contract, is compiling the standard aeronautical index, considered the most radical innovation in classification history.

Wright field is serving in a similar manner with its German information. By August, 1947, the air documents division had furnished more than 10 million index cards from its master file to 35 qualified government scientific and industrial organizations throughout the nation, plus hundreds of thousands of documents in microfilm to 2,500 governmental agencies and contractors.

Doctors Warn Hair Removal By X-Ray Can Cause Cancer

CHICAGO. — The Journal of the American Medical association has published an appeal to health authorities, chambers of commerce, better business bureaus and legislative committees of all civic organizations to warn the public against X-rays for removing superfluous hair.

These rays, says the warning, can lead to cancer, and if not, often to disfigurement worse than the hair.

In the '20s X-rays were used in varying amounts on women and girls for hair removal.

The article summarized the bad results, 20 years afterward. It declares that either one large dose of X-ray for this purpose, or numerous small doses, are dangerous.

The present appeal is made because, the article says, the hair-removing tactics of the '20s are being revived. The instruments used do not always indicate that X-rays are the hair removers.

Lady, that "New Look" also means "Big Enough!"

FAR BE IT FROM US to out-the controversy between fashion designers who favor that "New Look", inseparably associated with longer skirts . . . and the individualists who are members of either "Hold the Hemline" or "A Little Below the Knee" Clubs.

While this season has brought about the most legible fashion change in over a decade, there is also a change going on in your home . . . a change resulting from your family growing up.

As it grows, you need more hot water. There is more laundering, more bathing, more dishwashing, more fuss about personal appearance, more hot water for cooking or day-long house cleaning . . . sometimes all at once or in rapid succession.

This calls for an Automatic Electric Water Heater which is BIG ENOUGH to meet your every 'round-the-clock need. And when it is BIG ENOUGH, you heat water on our Time Controlled Storage Water Heating Rate—four gallons for a penny!

There! We said it before, and we're glad. You will be too if you get one BIG ENOUGH. Just ask your dealer about the perfect-size model for your family.

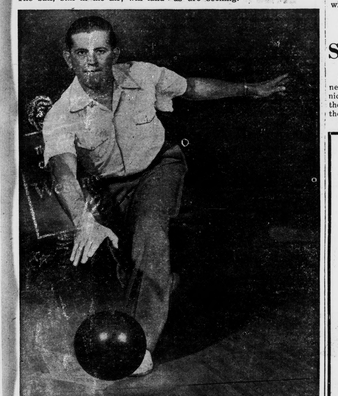
Ten Pin Tips—

By Joe Norris

(This is the ninth of a series of lessons by Joe Norris, only bowler named to the All-American team eight consecutive times. Norris also has been a member of the world's match game team champions and the ABC and international team champions.)

HEAD ON

Viewed from the front, the bowler here presents a picture of concentration and smooth coordination. The ball, still in the air, will land on the polished surface of the alley just over the foul line, after having passed close to the left ankle. The right hand, having imparted its counter-clockwise twist to the ball, still is turning. As can be noted from the photograph, the thumb was the first to withdraw, the finger or fingers then continuing for another split second to "lift" the sphere for added spin. Rhythm, coordination and correct timing on this phase of the game are certain to result in those high scores all of us are seeking.



Two Luxury Ships Planned By Mediterranean Line

NEW YORK. — American Export Lines has announced a 51 million dollar expansion program to build up its passenger fleet to compete with foreign flags in the Mediterranean service.

The board of directors voted to receive bids for construction of two 20,000 - gross - ton passenger liners capable of carrying 937 passengers each.

John E. Slater, executive vice president of the company, said estimated cost of the two vessels would probably exceed 40 million dollars.

Work has started in the New York shipyards of Bethlehem Shipbuilding company on four new "Four Ace" passenger liners which will cost 11 million dollars.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1 Taken like a tonic, Cardui may help build appetite, and digestion,* thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.

2 Started 3 days before your "time" is due, Cardui may help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did. 6
